Alabama Federation of Republican Women Becomes ALGOP's Newest Governor Circle Member

Birmingham, AL – As the Alabama Republican Party continues to aggressively raise money for the 2010 campaigns and election, a familiar and extremely active Republican organization has become the newest member of the Governor's Circle, the Party's highest donor level. The Alabama Federation of Republican Women's $40,000 contribution to the Party will be used to assist grassroots "get out the vote" initiatives, as well as a statewide billboard campaign.

Rep. Mike Hubbard (R-Auburn), Chairman of the Alabama Republican Party, thanked the AFRW for their extraordinary commitment and dedication to the 2010 effort:

"As Party Chairman, it is a real blessing to have an organization as strong as the Alabama Federation of Republican Women," Hubbard said. "Every time we need them, they are there to help. Anytime we need assistance, they rally the troops and are the first ones to heed the call."

"To have an organization that not only talks about wanting Republicans to succeed in November, but also backs it up with their money and their time is what makes this group so special," Hubbard added. "By contributing $40,000 to our effort, in addition to the countless hours of volunteering for our candidates, the AFRW proves that they not only talk the talk, but they also walk the walk. That's what makes them one of the strongest and most valuable components of the Alabama Republican Party."
